

Government Services

General Physics Corporation

When you choose GP, you know you've chosen a company that can bring effective e-learning to the government sector:

▶ e-learning Expertise

As a world-class leader in e-learning, delivering everything from consultation and custom content development to LMS integration and hosting, you'll receive the full benefit of our breadth of experience.

▶ Government Industry Experience

With multiple contract vehicles currently in place and significant government experience, GP understands the unique challenges you face. From contracting and compliance issues to IT security and timeline concerns, you can be sure you're working with a partner who is sensitive to your needs as well as your initiatives.

▶ Customized Solutions

GP has been a training leader for 40 years. So we know how to optimize knowledge transfer individually and across organizations. We have no commitments to work with specific multi-media tools or LMS systems, we just help you select the appropriate technology that will work for you. This, coupled with our depth of knowledge of available resources, means you will get world-class e-learning solutions that are engaging, educational and successful.

▶ Proven Processes

GP has developed a set of efficient and effective processes and best practices that have been proven over multiple implementations in government and industry. By following these processes and having check points throughout the development of your solution, we're able to ensure smooth implementations and cost-effective solutions.

▶ Commitment

As a global company that is based locally, GP can draw on the strength and numbers of our entire organization to deliver solutions of any size or on any timeframe. In addition, we're able to meet you at a moment's notice, if necessary. Whatever it takes to make your initiative a success.

▶ EHRI Integration ▶ Trust GP to manage your OPM reporting.

Your LMS is a critical part of your Enterprise Human Resources Integration (EHRI) initiatives and can present a challenge when it comes time to fulfill your reporting requirements. Whether your agency operates a single LMS or multiple ones, the management of required OPM reporting could be taking you away from other mission-critical initiatives.

Regardless of whether GP hosts some or all of your training data, we are well positioned to compile and submit the data you need to meet your requirements on a monthly basis. By building it into your ongoing LMS maintenance costs, we can make it an affordable solution that will save you the time and hassle of doing it yourself. And, since you already trust us with your data, you know you can rely on us for handling even your most sensitive reporting needs.
